Strengthening
Chicago's
Youth

Letter from the Director

Greetings!,

Addressing the impact of trauma has been a part of the violence prevention work that SCY members have been involved in for many years. The State of Illinois has now declared today, May 15, as Trauma-Informed Awareness Day. A toolkit has been developed by our partners at The Illinois ACEs Response Collaborative to help mobilize around these efforts and help build a resilient and thriving Illinois.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Levin, MPH

WHAT'S YOUR MESSAGE?

Training Event

To craft a message about a campaign, an event or an organization, often we go to outside experts. But for those who don't have the resources or even those who do - should maybe go first to the best assets, the people. Public Narrative will take you through a guided process to help you find messages that just might already be there.

BUILDING A COMMUNICATIONS PLAN

Training Event

Colleagues, board members and bosses often believe that if we could just tell the whole world our story, we'd raise more money, get more done and make the world a better place. Of course, it's not that simple. In this training, Public Narrative will teach you a practical set of tools you need to clarify communications goals, target key audiences, and develop messages on social and traditional media.

MORE THAN THE INDIVIDUAL

An Exploration of Community Trauma and Implications for Healing

In this training, participants will explore the ways in which the impact of trauma extends beyond the individuals who directly witness or experience violence, to affect entire communities. Participants will learn more about ways in which trauma manifests at the community level, and how it is perpetuated by systems and structures, both historically and today. Participants will discuss what creates resilience within a community, and strategies for trauma-informed community building.

INTERACTIVE CONFERENCE

Finding Ways to Help Support Community Partners

SPARC (Students for Patient Advocacy and Research in the Community), a Student Group at Northwestern University's Medical School is looking for ways to engage with the Chicago area. They are hoping to hold an event in Chicago where health providers, students, community leaders and organizations are represented to share their perspectives and goals when working with the community. As part of the planning process for this event, they are asking for input from different Chicagoland organizations to get a better idea of how to create a conference that best suits the needs of every participant, and ultimately give community organizations and leaders who participate in this event the best experience possible.
